

Dear Parents and Carers

I am writing to inform you of the revision opportunities available to your son or daughter during the half term week. In collaboration with subject leaders, I have put together a summary of subjects that will be offering revision sessions, and the dates and times they will be available.

English

English teachers will be carrying out targeted revision sessions for specific groups of students. Teachers will be in contact with specific individuals regarding when these sessions will be taking place.

Maths

Over half term, students can use the PLC that they were given by their teachers after their March P.P.E. They can then use the following websites to fill in the missing gaps in their knowledge:

Corbettmaths.com; PiXL Maths app; GCSE pod and Hegarty Maths (Youtube).
Resource365 is also a great for past exam papers. Good luck to all students in their upcoming exams!

History

History revision will be being held Thursday 31st May from 10:00-14:00. All students who study history are invited to attend.

Science

Science will not be holding revision sessions over the half term break, however they have set GCSEPod revision activities for all students as well as providing an abundance of resources on OneDrive to be used for revision. Individual science teachers will also be setting specific tasks for completion by students in their individual classes.

Request for Uniform

In addition to the revision outlined above, I am also writing to request donations to the school for any uniform that is no longer required once your son/daughter has finished their exams. Any donations would be greatly appreciated and uniform can be brought to the student office to be sorted.

Yours faithfully

K Hodder
