

Solomon Theatre 12th July 2018

5th July 2018

Dear Parents and Carers,

As part of our comprehensive careers programme at St Edwards, we encourage students to think about higher education options and career aspirations after they have completed their GCSE's.

We have arranged for Solomon Theatre to perform for Year 10 students, to show them ways to overcome pressures they may face when making important career focussed decisions and also to encourage them to think about key messages such as:

Which subjects should I pick for BTEC or A level?
What career and learning pathway options are there for me?
How do apprenticeships work, would they be suitable for my future?

This performance is linked to the project work led by Southern University Network, who address issues surrounding progression to Higher Education, and who aim to help young people explore all post 16 options.

Yours Sincerely,
A Bousfield
